PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

The largest country in East Africa, Tanzania is bordered by the Indian Ocean to the east and the great lakes of the Rift Valley to the west. Much of the central terrain is a high plateau that lies between the east and west branches of the Rift Valley, the birthplace of humankind. Tanzania is home to natural landmarks such as the Serengeti Plains, Mt. Kilimanjaro, Ngorongoro Crater, and Olduvai Gorge. Tanzania is notable for its political stability: tribal divisions that have ignited conflict in the region are largely absent in Tanzania's well-integrated population.

After an initial orientation on campus, our program begins in Moshu, TZ, where orientation continues in a spacious and comfortable guest house. After a hike on Mt. Kilimanjaro and visits to an art collective, banana plantation, and the city of Arusha for context, the group transfers to Karatu and the local high school at Banjika where students meet their host families. During the homestay portion of the trip, the heart of the program, students will convene to check in each morning, take Ki Swahili lessons and gather to work on one of several community projects. These projects vary according to community need, but as an example, during Menlo's last visit prior to the COVID-19 epidemic, Menlo students helped to install solar panels they had helped to design and build in the Whittaker Lab prior to the trip. Another past community project involved a new brick-building technology that provided a dramatic and positive alternative to slash-and-burn techniques. Many of the community engagement activities are facilitated by local NGOs. In the late afternoons and evenings, students get to know their homestay family and communities, cooking, playing soccer, and hanging out, or reconvening for learning sessions designed to promote the understanding of global issues, leadership, and local culture.

The homestay period is broken up with a day retreat at a local hotel to relax and reflect, followed by a day trip to the Ngorongoro Crater. The trip ends with debriefing and transference activities, and a final day on Menlo campus.

PROGRAM COMPONENTS

Menlo Abroad: Tanzania is built around interrelated academic and experiential program components intended to create a holistic, immersive experience. Below is a list of these components as they relate to this program.

1. Survey of Development Issues: Our program explores a range of development issues, from resource management and environmental impact to education to market- and community-oriented development. Students learn through their direct experiences, meetings with community members and leaders, and related activities.

2. Independent or Small-Group Study: Menlo students will have the opportunity to investigate—individually or in small groups—a topic of particular interest, availing themselves of local knowledge and resources.

3. Language Study: English is an official language of Tanzania but the local vernacular is Ki Swahili. We do not expect participants to come with Ki Swahili language skills; we do expect that students will want to interact with locals as closely as they can. Few things do more to empower participants and to facilitate ease of cultural understanding than frequent use of the local language.

4. Immersive Travel: Traveling to traditional communities in developing countries requires students to get out of their comfort zones. In Menlo Abroad, students are travelers rather than tourists. They travel in a style that enables them to genuinely know the people of the countries they visit. For adaptable participants, it offers the most authentic experience and profound learning adventure. Students should expect to cope with cold water showers, basic infrastructure, and pit toilets in the rural areas.

5. Homestay: Often the most challenging and fulfilling component, homestays take students to the core of their experience. Homestays are carefully set up with each student’s individual personality in mind in order to provide the best experience in cultural and language immersion possible. In Banjika, homestays are coordinated through community leaders. Each student will be placed in a homestay, most likely together with another Menlo student. The cohort will gather most mornings to check in and to engage in group activities.

6. Community Engagement: Students will learn about themselves and each other through their experiences working on community engagement projects of mutual interest and benefit.

7. Guided Reflection: Students will regularly meet with Menlo and WLS leaders to investigate, monitor, problem solve, and reflect on events or issues particular to the individual students. Students will journal and blog frequently to communicate their experience with friends and family back home.

Regardless of such changes, we will always work to structure and implement the course so that it stays true to the original intent.

TRAVEL INSURANCE

Given the uncertainty of conditions at the current time, Menlo encourages participants to consider the purchase of a travel insurance or trip cancellation insurance policy for the Borderlands trip. Check your primary medical insurance provider to assure your child will have medical coverage while traveling. If that is in question, travel insurance including medical coverage should be purchased.

If the participant is on financial aid, travel insurance purchases for this trip will be reimbursed at the rate of financial aid.

Here are some insurance options you might consider. Academic Explorer Adventure is another option designed especially for school travel and especially this trip. (If you use the Academic Explorer option, call the 877 number and ask for Kathy.) But Menlo makes no recommendation regarding these options: Please read all policies carefully to ensure that your needs are met.

CANCELED TRIPS: A full refund will be made for canceled trips that arise out of insufficient registration, though Menlo is not responsible for other costs incurred by the student or family preparing for the trip. For trips canceled due to any other circumstance that is beyond Menlo’s control, Menlo will refund all recoupable tuition. If Menlo decides to cancel the trip at its own discretion, Menlo will fully refund participants’ payments.

REFUND POLICY: If Menlo does not cancel the trip but a participant chooses to withdraw, the participant must inform the Global Programs Director (pbrown@menloschool.org and the Program Director of (erin@worldleadershipschool.com) in an email communication. Menlo will refund recoupable fees according to the following schedule: By 3/19, 50% refund. No refunds will be given for withdrawal after 3/19 or for participants departing the trip early.*

MEDICAL AND EVACUATION EXPENSES: It is the responsibility of the student and the student’s family to understand the limits of any medical and evacuation policy, and to provide up-front payment of emergency services when required.

CELL PHONES: In order to maintain the integrity of Borderlands’ immersive experience, students will relinquish their cell phones to trip leaders upon entry into the target area. Cell phones will be returned to students when they are in the airport awaiting the return flight home.

VIOLATION OF RULES AND REGULATIONS: If a participant acts in a way that is injurious to himself or herself, people of the host community, or other participants on the trip, or generally conducts himself or herself in a way that is disruptive to the trip, we reserve the right to send the participant home without refund or to require parental pickup at the travel site. Underage use of alcohol and the use of illegal drugs are cause for dismissal. Participants sent home early or who choose to return for any reason, including sickness, personal emergencies or injury, will be responsible for all medical costs and will absorb travel and related costs associated with an unscheduled departure.

*Recoupable fees do not include airline fees and deposits Menlo pays to travel organization on the student’s behalf.

Please contact Peter Brown with any questions at 650.330.2001 ext. 2238 or email pbrown@menloschool.org.
